REFLECTING ON GOD'S WORD

As the Word of God incarnate, Jesus shows Himself to be the consummate keeper of and commentor on God's commands in Torah.

Jesus begins His commentary on the law with some fundamental, general principles. God's law is to be fulfilled. Teachers of God's law shall obey it and teach others to do likewise. Keeping God's law should be demonstrated through rigorous and exceptional behavior that differs even from those who are steeped in the law (scribes and Pharisees).

After enumerating His basic principles, Jesus then shows how they function by applying them to some representative, fundamental commandments. Beginning with the command to avoid wrongfully taking life (killing or murder), Jesus recalls the commandment and then names the interior disposition that makes the behavior wrong, anger. This disposition, He says, is what must be avoided in every way; wrongfully taking a life is merely one example. The command to avoid adultery, in Jesus' commentary, similarly expands in rigor. More than simply an exhortation to avoid one behavior, internal promptings at odds with purity are shown to contradict God's intention behind the law. Thus, avoiding adultery becomes a rigorous call to purity. Similarly, Jesus' comment on Torah's law permitting divorce indicates that a failed marriage is more than just a tragedy for the couple, it has broader negative ramifications on society, which are to be avoided. And the divine mandate to avoid false testimony becomes an instruction to develop a reputation for unfailing honesty. For Jesus, such rigorous integrity becomes the means of potentially avoiding court in the first place. If one is known for rigorous integrity, there arises little need for legal interventions and their accompanying oaths.

Thus, Jesus' interpretive principles and commentary on select laws give a clear picture as to how we are to approach God's laws in our lives. Rather than accommodating them to suit our circumstances, we are exhorted to find and apply the underlying kernel that directs us toward bringing about the greater good.

THEMES: 6TH SUNDAY, ORDINARY TIME, YEAR A

This week's themes focus on choices, wisdom, and living a good life. Jesus teaches that following God's law is not just about rules but about having the right attitude and actions.

- ♦ Free Will and Choice: God gives people the ability to choose between good and evil. The first reading reminds everyone that their choices lead to life or death.
- ♦ Following God's Wisdom: The second reading speaks of God's wisdom, which is different from human wisdom. People who love God receive His wisdom through the Spirit.
- ♦ Obedying the Commandments: Jesus teaches that obeying God's law is more than just following rules. It means living with honesty, love, and self-control.
- ♦ Avoiding Anger and Hate: Jesus says anger can lead to harm, just like murder. He calls His followers to seek peace and forgiveness instead.
- ♦ Purity in Thoughts and Actions: Jesus warns against lustful thoughts and actions. He teaches that purity starts in the heart, not just in outward behavior.
- ♦ Speaking Truthfully: Jesus tells His followers not to swear oaths but to be honest in everything they say. Truthfulness should be part of daily life.

God sees everything and wants people to choose good over evil. The readings on the 6th Sunday in Ordinary Time, Year A, remind everyone that faith is not just about laws but about living with love, wisdom, and truth.
